

Journal Index
Updated to September/October 2001

MH—MENTAL HEALTH (GENERAL)

[Q&A] “Common questions about seniors, mental health and addiction,” May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 14.

“Q&A: Common questions about mental health and addiction problems among youth,” September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 14.

“Malignant Angels: Why good boys do bad things”, Diana Ballon, September/October 2001, 4:5, p. 4

MH:ART—ARTS AND MENTAL ILLNESS

“Film festival premieres Cuckoo’s Nest documentary,” Kalyani Vittala, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 3.

“Drug companies disapprove of artist’s work,” Andrew Johnson, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 4.

“Fire and reason: New publication features the work of young people with mood disorders,” Sue McCluskey, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 8.

“Art as a tool for healing,” Paul Jay, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 10.

“It’s art that comes from the mind,” Diana Ballon, January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 8.

“The living museum,” Lisa Schmidt [film review], January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 15.

“Poetry from the edge,” Lisa Schmidt [book review], March/April, 3.2 p. 15.

MH:ASD—ASSESSMENT/DIAGNOSIS

“Silently depressed,” Diane Peters, May/June 2000, 3:3, p. 4.

MH:CS—CONSUMER/SURVIVOR ISSUES

“Consumer participation key to recovery,” Ezra Houser, September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 6.

“Negotiating the system,” Chris Whittaker, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 14.

“Focus on employment and recovery,” [Feature Section], March/April 1999, 2:2, pp. 11-14.

“Evaluating alternative business,” Mark Crane, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 11.

“Self-employment the goal of new pilot programs,” Tamsen Tillson, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 12.

“Courage to Come Back awards given,” Christa L. Haanstra, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 4.

“Pat Capponi gives speech to the voiceless,” Chris Whittaker [book review], September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 15.

“The other side of dangerous: A commentary on Working Like Crazy,” Kathryn Church [film review], November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 15.

“Children of the Holocaust survivors and Third Reich find their voice,” Honey Fisher, January/February 2001, 4:1, p. 9.

“The growing disorder in American psychiatry,” David Goldbloom [book review], January/February 2001, 4:1, p. 15.

“Making connections: Clients newly discharged from psych hospitals gain support from their peers,” May/June 2001, 4:3, p. 5.

“A fragile revolution pays tribute to a transformation,” Pat Capponi, [book review] July/August 2001, 4:4, p. 15.

“Client involvement: tokenism or empowerment?” David Reville, July/August 2000, 3:4, p. 16.

MH:CS:1—Education

“Supports for higher education,” Mark de la Hey, March/April 2000, 3:2, p. 4.

“Street papers give voice to people fighting poverty, addiction and mental illness,” Ian Kinross, September/October 2001, 4:5, p. 8.

MH:CS:2—Employment

“Focus on employment and recovery,” [Feature Section], March/April 1999, 2:2, pp. 11-14.

“Evaluating alternative business,” Mark Crane, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 11.

“Self-employment the goal of new pilot programs,” Tamsen Tillson, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 12.

[Q&A] “Facts on employment and recovery,” March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 14.

“The other side of dangerous: A commentary on Working Like Crazy,” Kathryn Church [film review], November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 15.

“Linking productivity and mental health,” Solange de Santis, March/April 2000, 3:2, p. 8.

“Focus on the job – a ‘depressed’ economy,” Tamsen Tillson, January/February 2001, 4:1, p. 10.

“Client involvement: tokenism or empowerment,” David Reville, July/August 2000, 3:4, p. 16.

“Street papers give voice to people fighting poverty, addiction, mental illness,” Ian Kinross, September/October 2001, 4:5, p. 8.

MH:CS:3—Housing/Homelessness/Poverty

“Innovative programs reach more clients,” Diana Ballon, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 13.

“Pat Capponi gives speech to the voiceless,” Chris Whittaker [book review], September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 15.

“Crossing the Border describes the science of outreach,” Cynthia Karlton [book review], January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 15.

“Homeless youth share their stories,” Vicki O’Brien, July/August 2000, 3:4, p. 11.

“Street papers give voice to people fighting poverty, addiction, mental illness,” Ian Kinross, September/October 2001, 4:5, p. 8.

MH:DIS—DISORDERS

MH:DIS:1—Alzheimer’s Disorder

MH:DIS:2—Anxiety Disorders

“Results of group CBT study show promise,” Christa Haanstra, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 3.

“Avoiding your doctor,” Lisa Schmidt, July/August 2001, 4:4, p. 8.

MH:DIS:2a—Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder (OCD)

“All in the family, OCD may be inherited,” Diana Ballon, March/April 2000, 3:2, p. 9.

MH:DIS:2b—Panic Disorder

“Genetic link to panic disorder discovered,” Christa Haanstra, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 4.

MH:DIS:2c—Phobias

MH:DIS:3—Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD)

“Kids get put on Ritalin as young as one year old,” Gail Dugas, July/August 2000, 3:4, p. 8.

MH:DIS:4—Concurrent Disorders (also under Addictions)

“Focus on concurrent disorders,” Feature Section, September/October 1998, 1:1, pp. 13-16.

“Does harm reduction have a place in treating concurrent disorders?” Julia Drake, September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 13.

“Combined programs address multiple needs,” Penny Stuart, September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 14.

“Finding psychiatric disorders in addicted clients,” Anita Dubey, September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 14.

“Separate treatments ineffective, expert says,” Kalyani Vittala, September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 15.

“Consumer voices: Kathy’s story,” Anonymous, September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 15.

“Q&A: Answers to common questions on concurrent disorders,” September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 16.

“HIV clients and concurrent disorders,” Wayne Skinner [book review], July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 15.

“Results of group CBT study show promise,” Christa Haanstra, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 3.

“Concurrent eating disorders and substance use challenge the therapist,” Angela Pirisi, May/June 2001, 4:3, p. 3.

MH:DIS:5—Conduct Disorder

“Mischievous or a cry for help,” Tamsen Tillson September/October 2000, 3:5, p. 12.

MH:DIS:6—Dementia

MH:DIS:7—Developmental Disorders

MH:DIS:7a—Asperger’s Disorder

“Invisibility of Asperger’s delays treatment,” Tamsen Tillson, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 8.

MH:DIS:7b—Autism

MH:DIS:7c—Pervasive Developmental Disorder

MH:DIS:8—Dual Disabilities

- “Mending the cracks for dual disabilities,” Gerry Luciano, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 4.
- “Highlighting the needs of deaf clients,” Penny Stuart, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 6.

MH:DIS:9—Eating Disorders

- “When kids hate their bodies,” Diana Ballon, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 3.
- “Unrealistic portrayals of wispy women – how media images contribute to eating disorders,” Cindy McGlynn, November/December 2000, 3:36, p. 13.
- “Concurrent eating disorders and substance use challenge the therapist,” Angele Pirisi, May/June 2001, 4:3, p. 3.

MH:DIS:10—Mood Disorders

- “Mending the cracks for dual disabilities,” Gerry Luciano, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 4.
- “A new way to treat mood disorders,” Donalee Moulton, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 4.
- “Fire and reason: New publication features the work of young people with mood disorders,” Sue McCluskey, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 8.
- “Hard-wired for happiness?” Angela Pirisi, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 9.

MH:DIS:10a—Bipolar Disorder (Manic Depression)

- Still together after 29 years of ups – and downs,” Diana Ballon, July/August 2000, 3:4, p. 12.

MH:DIS:10b—Depression

- “Defeating depression,” [book review], September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 17.
- “Male menopause: Hormone replacement therapy may relieve depressive symptoms in aging men,” Sue McCluskey, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 13.
- “Healing from depression naturally,” Cindy McGlynn, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 11.
- “Killinger’Johnson’ murder/suicide,” Tamsen Tillsen, November/December 2000, 3:6, p. 12.
- “Electroconvulsive therapy: beneficial or barbarous?” Dr. Vivek Kusumakar, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 16.
- “Electroconvulsive therapy: Same old treatment, same old results,” Dr. Lee Coleman, January/February 2000, p. 16.
- “Silently depressed,” Diane Peters, May/June 2000, 3:3, p. 4.
- “Focus on the job – a ‘depressed’ economy,” Tamsen Tillsen, January/February 2001, 4:1, p. 10.
- “Should I tell the boss? Disclosing a psychiatric condition in the workplace.”, Diana Ballon, Janu/February 2001, 4:1, p. 13.
- “Sexual side-effects are a turn’off,” Angela Pirisi, July/August 2001, 4:4, p. 9.

MH:DIS:10c—Dysthymia

“Disorder of discontent: Dysthymia often goes ignored or undertreated,” Diana Ballon, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 9.

MH:DIS:10d—Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD)

“New guidelines for SAD released,” Gerry Luciano, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 3.

MH:DIS:11—Personality Disorders

MH:DIS:11a—Borderline Personality Disorder

“Dialectical behaviour therapy: Treating the dramatic symptoms of borderline personality disorder,” Tamsen Tillson, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 8.

MH:DIS:12—Posttraumatic Stress Disorder

“Controversial therapy uses eye movement to heal trauma,” Penny Stuart, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 4.

[Q & A] [Focus on Therapists] “Vicarious traumatization; Self care for the health care provider”, Diana Ballon, September/October 2001, 4:5, p. 14.

MH:DIS:13—Psychosis

“Intervening early reduces psychotic episodes,” Lisa Schmidt, January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 3.

“On delusions,” Michael Armstrong, November/December 2000, 3:6, p. 9.

MH:DIS:14—Schizophrenia

“Helping moms with schizophrenia,” Anita Dubey, September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 8.

“Better treatments for schizophrenia,” Anita Dubey, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 3.

“Dispelling the stigma of schizophrenia: A global campaign launches in Canada,” Anita Dubey, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 8.

“Yu inquest delivers verdict,” Sue McCluskey, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 4.

“Altered sense of smell may indicate problem with brain functioning,” Donelee Moulton, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 10.

“Bold new efforts aim to prevent schizophrenia,” Diana Ballon, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 12.

“Intervening early reduces psychotic episodes,” Lisa Schmidt, January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 3.

“Managing schizophrenia,” Diana Ballon, January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 3.

“Michael,” Mary Seeman, May/June 2000, 3:3, p. 9.

“Mary and Michael: a powerful 13-year therapeutic relationship,” Michael Alzamora, May/June 2000, 3:3, p. 8.

“Unravelling schizophrenia,” Angela Pirisi, July/August 2000, 3:4, p. 9.

“Extended family in India – caregive burnout,” Cindy McGlynn, July/August 2000, 3:4, p. 10.

“Living with schizophrenia,” Tamsen Tillson, September/October, 3:5, p. 9.

“Estrogen – more than a sex hormone,” Lisa Schmidt, May/June 2000, 3:3, p. 12.

“Realizing that life isn’t one big horror,” Diana Ballon, July/August, 3:4, p. 5.

MH:DIS:15—Sexual Disorders (see under Mental Health: Sex and Sexuality)

MH:DIS:16—Sleep Disorders

“Sleep disturbances studied in alcoholics,” Don Barrie, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 3.

MH:DIS:17—Trauma

“New approaches to trauma therapy: A focus on women’s strengths, not symptoms,” Diana Ballon, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 9.

“Controversial therapy uses eye movement to heal trauma,” Penny Stuart,
November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 4.

“Too scared to learn: How trauma affects women,” Tamsen Tillson, January/February
2000, 3:1, p. 12.

[Q & A] “Vicarious traumatization; Self care for the health care provider,” September/October 2001, 4:5, p. 14.

MH:EMP—EMPLOYMENT AND WORKPLACE ISSUES

“Health at work,” Arthur McCudden [book review], November/December 1998, 1:2, p.
15.

Linking productivity and mental health,” Solange de Santis, March/April 2000, 3:2, p. 8.

“The last word – Job stress: looking down the wrong end of the telescope,” Terrence
Sullivan, May/June 2000, 3:3, p. 16.

“Street papers give voice to people fighting poverty, addiction, mental illness,”
Sept/October 2001, 4:5, p. 8.

MH:ETH—ETHICAL ISSUES

“The ethical implications of genetic research: The future may be here sooner than you think,” Cindy McGlynn, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 10.

“Electroconvulsive therapy: beneficial or barbarous?” Dr. Vivek Kusumakar,
November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 16.

“Electroconvulsive therapy: Same old treatment, same old results,” Dr. Lee Coleman,
January/February 2000, p. 16.

“Kids on drugs – it’s the legal ones that could be a problem,” January/February 2001, 4:1,
p. 8.

“Treatment or restraint?,” Stephen Nicholls, March/April 2001, 4:2, p. 11.

“The ethics of giving kids pills,” Marshall Korenblum, March/April 2001, 4:2, p. 16.

“To tell or not to tell” [Focus on Therapists], Lisa Schmidt, September/October 2001,
4:5, pp.10-11

MH:FOR—FORENSICS

“Striking a balance: Advocates call for more forensic beds– but not with a loss of community care,” Tamsen Tillson, September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 12.

“Sex offenders?” Diana Ballon, March/Apil 2000, 3:2, p. 11.

MH:GEN—GENETICS

“The ethical implications of genetic research: The future may be here sooner than you think,” Cindy McGlynn, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 10.

“Genetic link to panic disorder discovered,” Christa Haanstra, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 4.

“Hard-wired for happiness?” Angela Pirisi, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 9.

“All in the family, OCD may be inherited,” Diana Ballon, March/April 2000, 3:2, p. 9.

MH:GLO—GLOBAL ISSUES

MH:GLO:1—Developing Nations

“WHO targets mental illness in developing nations,” Angela Pirisi, January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 13.

MH:GLO:2—Europe

MH:GLO:3—United States

MH:HOM—HOMELESSNESS/HOUSING/POVERTY

“Focus on the homelessness crisis,” [Feature Section], November/December 1998, 1:2, pp. 11-14.

“Why the problem can’t be solved locally,” Tamsen Tillson, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 11.

“Smaller cities cope with homelessness,” Penny Stuart, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 12.

[Q&A] “Facts on homelessness,” November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 14.

“Bringing health care to homeless people: Shared Care Program delivers services in shelters, hostels, drop-ins,” Sue McCluskey, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 8.

“Face of homelessness is poor, vulnerable and female,” Cindy McGlynn, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 9.

MH:LEG—LEGAL ISSUES

“Evil or ill?” Barbara Fulton [book review], November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 15.

“Focus on treatment vs. punishment,” [Feature Section], January/February 1999, 2:1, pp. 11-14.

“Criminal system begins to recognize health issues,” Kalyani Vittala, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 11.

“Q&A: Facts on addiction, mental health and crime,” January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 14.

“When ignorance is deadly: Mythology about mental health law has cost lives,” Michael Bay, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 16.

“Getting tough about crime: Is change to federal law the solution?” Linda Baker, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 16.

MH:LEG:1—Community Treatment Orders (see under Mental Health: Treatment)

MH:LEG:2—Law Enforcement

“Criminal system begins to recognize health issues,” Kalyani Vittala, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 11.

“Mental health courts connect people to services,” Penny Stuart, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 13.

“Yu inquest delivers verdict,” Sue McCluskey, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 4.

“Getting tough about crime: Is change to federal law the solution?” Linda Baker, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 16.

MH:LEG:3—Mental Health Courts

“Mental health courts connect people to services,” Penny Stuart, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 13.

MH:LEG:4—Reform

“Brian’s Law gets a mixed review,” Lisa Ariemma, March/April 2001, 4:2, p. 5.

“The father of Canadian psychiatry: Joseph Workman,” Shawn Winsor [book review] March/April 2001, 4:2, p. 14.

“Ontario’s Bill 159 an affront to clients’ privacy,” Lori Stoltz, May/June, 4:3, p. 16.

MH:MED:--MEDIA

“Killinger-Johnson’s murder/suicide,” Tamsen Tillson, November/December 2000, 3:6, p. 12.

“Unrealistic portrayals of wispy women,” Cindy McGlynn, November/December 2000, 3:6, p. 13.

[Q & A] “Media portrayals of mental health and addiction problems,” Diana Ballon, November/December 2000, 3:6, p. 14.

MH:MHR—MENTAL HEALTH REFORM

“New directions for mental health reform,” Sue McCluskey, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 10.

MH:MHS—MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

MH:MHS:1—Community-Based Services

“Mending the cracks for dual disabilities,” Gerry Luciano, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 4.

“Teens helping teens,” Kalyani Vittala, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 11.

MH:MHS:2—Psychiatric Hospitals (also under Mental Health: Treatment Issues)

“Striking a balance: Advocates call for more forensic beds—but not with a loss of community care,” Tamsen Tillson, September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 12.

“Film festival premieres Cuckoo’s Nest documentary,” Kalyani Vittala, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 3.

“Bringing health care to homeless people: Shared Care Program delivers services in shelters, hostels, drop-ins,” Sue McCluskey, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 8.

“Remembering patients past,” Chris Whittaker [book review] September/October 2000, 3:5, p. 15.

“Light, air and space: healing buildings help healing minds,” Lisa Schmidt, March/April 2001, 4:2, p. 8.

“Reflecting on social and architectural history,” Lisa Schmidt [book review] July/August 2001, 4:4, p. 14.

MH:MHS:3—Public Health and Awareness

“Dispelling the stigma of schizophrenia: A global campaign launches in Canada,” Anita Dubey, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 8.

MH:NEU—NEUROLOGY

“Altered sense of smell may indicate problem with brain functioning,” Donelee Moulton, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 10.

MH:NEU:1—Brain Injuries

“Services to target people with acquired brain injuries,” Penny Stuart, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 3.

MH:PRA—Practitioners’ Issues

“To tell or not to tell” [Focus on Therapists], Lisa Schmidt, September/October 2001, 4:5, pp. 10-11.

Inspiration – Therapists recount how their clients’ journeys have touched their lives,” Tamsen Tillson, September/October 2001, 4:5, p. 12.

“An enduring loss; Therapists haunted by client’s suicide,” Jill Maynard, September/October 2001, 4:5, p. 13.

[Q & A] “Vicarious traumatization: Self care for the health care provider, Diana Ballon, September/October 2001, 4:5, p. 14.

MH:RES—RESEARCH

“Treatments that work,” Marlene Swirsky [book review], March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 15.

“The ethical implications of genetic research: The future may be here sooner than you think,” Cindy McGlynn, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 10.

“What twins tell us about ourselves,” Diana Ballon [book review], July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 15.

“Transforming the funding of medical research,” Deborah Etsten, January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 4.

MH:SEX—SEXUALITY AND SEXUAL ABUSE

“Acknowledging client’s sexuality,” Tamsen Tillson, July/August 2001, 4:4, p. 10.

[Q & A] “Where sexuality, addiction and mental health intersect,” Diana Ballon, July/August 2001, 4:4, p. 13.

MH:SEX:1—Sexual Abuse

“New approaches to trauma therapy: A focus on women’s strengths, not symptoms,” Diana Ballon, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 9.

MH:SEX:2—Sexual Disorders

“Sex offenders?” Diana Ballon, March/April 2000, 3:2, p. 11.

MH:SP—SPECIAL POPULATIONS

MH:SP:1—Aboriginal Issues

MH:SP:2—Children

“When kids hate their bodies,” Diana Ballon, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 3.

“New report looks at risk factors in child poverty,” Kalyani Vittala, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 10.

“Invisibility of Asperger’s delays treatment,” Tamsen Tillson, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 8.

[Q & A] “Common questions about mental health and addiction problems in school-aged children,” September/October 2000, 3:5, p. 14.

“Childhood trauma linked to mental illness,” Andrea Gordon, May/June 2001, 4:3, p. 4.

MH:SP:3—Family

[Q & A] “Common questions about the family of people with mental health and/or addiction problems,” Diana Ballon, July/August 2000, 3:4, p. 14.

MH:SP:4—Youth (Teens/Adolescents)

“CD speaks to teens in distress,” Chris Hendry, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 6.

“When kids hate their bodies,” Diana Ballon, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 3.

“Mental health in immigrant youth,” Gerry Luciano, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 4.

“Fire and reason: New publication features the work of young people with mood disorders,” Sue McCluskey, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 8.

“Focus on youth,” [Feature Section], September/October 1999, 2:5, pp. 11-14.

“Teens helping teens,” Kalyani Vittala, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 11.

“Bold new efforts aim to prevent schizophrenia,” Diana Ballon, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 12.

[Q&A] “Common questions about mental health and addiction problems among youth,” September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 14.

“Getting tough about crime: Is change to federal law the solution?” Linda Baker, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 16.

“Intervening early reduces psychotic episodes,” Lisa Schmidt, January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 3.

“Kids on drugs: it’s the legal ones that could be a problem,” Gail Dugas, January/February 2001, 4:1, p. 8

“Young women speak out about depression,” Danah Beaulieu, July/August 2001, 4:4, p. 5.

“Mischievous or a cry for help? Disciplining students demands awareness of underlying distress,” Tamsen Tillson, September/October 2000, 3:5, p. 12

MH:SP:5—Ethnocultural Issues (Ethnic Minorities)

- “Mental health in immigrant youth,” Gerry Luciano, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 4.
“Ethnocultural diversity,” [Feature Section], July/August 1999, 2:4, pp. 11-14.
“The language of care: Ethnic groups face many barriers to mental health treatment,” Anita Dubey, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 11.
“Somali refugees vulnerable in Canada,” Cindy McGlynn, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 13.
[Q&A] “Common questions about ethnocultural diversity,” July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 14.

MH:SP:6—Lesbian/Gay/Bisexual

- “Gay teens feel isolated and alone. And the stress is taking its toll,” Andrea Gordon, July/August 2001, 4:4, p. 11.

MH:SP:7—Men

- “Male menopause: Hormone replacement therapy may relieve depressive symptoms in aging men,” Sue McCluskey, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 13.

MH:SP:8—Rural and Remote Populations

- “Telemedicine: Video counselling reaches the underserved, but still has to prove its worth,” Donalee Moulton, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 9.
“Telepsychiatry – video technology provides service in rural areas,” Christa Haanstra, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 3.

MH:SP:9—Seniors and Aging

- “Focus on seniors,” [Feature Section], May/June 1999, 2:3, pp. 11-14.
“Male menopause: Hormone replacement therapy may relieve depressive symptoms in aging men,” Sue McCluskey, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 13.
“Q&A: Common questions about seniors, mental health and addiction,” May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 14.
“Silently depressed,” Diane Peters, May/June 2000, 3:3, p. 4.

MH:SP:10—Women and Mothers

- “Helping moms with schizophrenia,” Anita Dubey, September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 8.
“New approaches to trauma therapy: A focus on women’s strengths, not symptoms,” Diana Ballon, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 9.
“Feminist therapy leaves women empowered,” Diana Ballon, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 3.
“Face of homelessness is poor, vulnerable and female,” Cindy McGlynn, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 9.
“Too scared to learn: How trauma affects women,” Tamsen Tillson, January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 12.
[Q & A] “Common questions about mental health issues and addiction problems affecting women,” Mark de le Hey, Diana Ballon, May/June 2000, 3:3, p. 14.

MH:SPR—SPIRITUALITY

- “Bring spirituality into treatment, MD says,” Craig Smith, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 3.
“Spirituality and psychotherapy: Wrestling with life’s bigger questions,” Cindy McGlynn, January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 9.

“Meditating behind bars,” Tamsen Tillson, March/April 2000, 3:2, p. 12.
“On delusions,” Michael Armstrong, November/December 2000, 3:6, p. 9.
“Neurotheology lends support to the power of spirituality,” Kalyani Vittala, September/October 2001, 4:5, p. 9.

MH:STI—STIGMA

“Dispelling the stigma of schizophrenia: A global campaign launches in Canada,” Anita Dubey, March/April 1999, 2:2, p. 8.
“Focus on Women: It’s not in the heads. IBS sufferers still get judged for their condition,” Anne Ptasznik, May/June 2000, 3:3, p. 10.
“Madness in film – images focus on the grotesque, the frightening and the violent,” Deborah C. Park, November/December 2000, 3:6, p. 16.
“Should I tell the boss?. Disclosing a psychiatric condition in the workplace,” Diana Ballon, January/February 2001, 4:1, p. 13.
“Supports for higher education,” Mark de la Hey, March/April 2000, 3:2, p. 4.

MH:SUI—SUICIDE

“Book Review – Night falls fast,” Nomi Berger, May/June 2000, 3:3, p. 15.
“Preventing suicide in the schools,” Lisa Schmidt, September/October, 3:5, p. 11
“Killinger’Johnson’s murder/suicide,” Tamsen Tillson, November/December 2000, 3:6, p. 12.
“Lay my burden down,” Sharon McCleod [book review] July/August 2001, 4:4, p. 14.
“Killinger-Johnson’s murder/suicide,” Tamsen Tillson, November/December 2000, 3:6, p. 9.
“An enduring loss; Therapists haunted by clients’ suicide,” Jill Maynard, September/October 2001, 4:5, p. 13.

MH:TRA—TRAINING

MH:TRA:1—Police

“Cops to be more sensitive,” Gail Dugas, March/April 2000, 3:2, p. 13.
“Cops focus on compassion, not force,” Lisa Ariemma, May/June 2001, 4:3, p. 9.

MH:TRA:2—Practitioners

[Q & A] “Common questions on mental health training for family physicians, May/June 2001, 4:3, p. 13.

MH:TR—TREATMENT AND RECOVERY

MH:TR:1—Community Treatment Orders (also under Mental Health: Legal Issues)

“Treatment orders show mixed results,” Nate Hendley, September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 7.
“Community treatment orders: A new bill heats up the debate,” Sue McCluskey, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 10.
“Brian’s Law gets mixed review,” Lisa Ariemma, March/April 2001, 4:2, p. 5.
“Realizing that lift isn’t one big horror,” Diana Ballon, July/August 2000, 3:4, p. 5.

MH:TR:2—Medication

- “The Prozac versus placebo debate,” Kate Cowen, September/October 1998, 1:1, p. 5.
- “Better treatments for schizophrenia,” Anita Dubey, January/February 1999, 2:1, p. 3.
- “Male menopause: Hormone replacement therapy may relieve depressive symptoms in aging men,” Sue McCluskey, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 13.
- “Heat and meds: a dangerous mix,” Mark Crane, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 4.
- “Lashing back at Prozac,” Robert Cooke, M.D. [book review] November/December 2000, p. 15.
- “Kids on drugs: it’s the legal ones that could be a problem,” Gail Dugas, January/February 2001, 4:1, p. 8.
- “Focus on prescription drugs – educating clients. Psychiatric pharmacists to more than dispense pills,” Lisa Ariemma, March/April 2001, 4:2, p. 9.
- “Antidepressants or depression? Expectant mothers weight the risks,” Diana Ballon, March/April 2001, 4:2, p. 10.
- “Treatment or restraint?” Stephen Nicholls, March/April 2001, 4:2, p. 11.
- “Q & A: common questions about benzodiazepine risks,” Andrea Gordon, March/April 2001, 4:2, p. 13.

MH:TR:2a—Pharmaceutical Manufacturers

- “Drug companies disapprove of artist’s work,” Andrew Johnson, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 4.
- “Take two and call God in the morning,” Shawn Winsor [book review] July/August 2000, 3:4, p. 15.

MH:TR:3—Prevention

- “Bold new efforts aim to prevent schizophrenia,” Diana Ballon, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 12.
- “Intervening early reduces psychotic episodes,” Lisa Schmidt, January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 3.
- “Preventing suicide in the schools,” Lisa Schmist, September/October 2000, 3:5, p. 11.

MH:TR:4—Psychiatric Hospitals (see under Mental Health: Mental Health Services)

MH:TR:5—Technology

- “Telemedicine: Video counselling reaches the underserved, but still has to prove its worth,” Donalee Moulton, November/December 1998, 1:2, p. 9.
- “Telepsychiatry—video technology provides service in rural areas,” Christa Haanstra, July/August 1999, 2:4, p. 3.
- “The Internet: On-line therapy or addiction?” Paul Jay, January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 10.

MH:TR:6—Therapies

- “Controversial therapy uses eye movement to heal trauma,” Penny Stuart, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 4.

MH:TR:6a—Alternative Therapies

“Moving beyond the mainstream,” [Feature Section], November/December 1999, 2:6, pp. 11-14.

“Art as a tool for healing,” Paul Jay, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 10.

“Healing from depression naturally,” Cindy McGlynn, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 11.

[Q&A] “Common questions about unconventional therapies,” Diana Ballon, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 14.

MH:TR:6aa—Diet and Nutrition

“Healing from depression naturally,” Cindy McGlynn, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 11.

MH:TR:6ab—Herbal Medicine

“Healing from depression naturally,” Cindy McGlynn, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 11.

“Herbal remedies have been used for centuries: But scientists are skeptical,” Amber Nasrulla, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 13.

MH:TR:6ac—Physical Fitness

MH:TR:6b—Anger Management

MH:TR:6c—Art Therapy

“Art as a tool for healing,” Paul Jay, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 10.

“Mary & Michael, a powerful 13 – year therapeutic relationship,” Michael, Alzamora, May/June 2000, 3:3, p. 8.

MH:TR:6d—Behaviour Therapy

MH:TR:6e—Cognitive Behaviour Therapy (CBT)

“Results of group CBT study show promise,” Christa Haanstra, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 3.

“All in the family OCD may be inherited,” Diana Ballon, March/April 2000, 3:2, p. 9.

MH:TR:6f—Dialectical Behaviour Therapy

“Dialectical behaviour therapy: Treating the dramatic symptoms of borderline personality disorder,” Tamsen Tillson, September/October 1999, 2:5, p. 8.

MH:TR:6g—Electroconvulsive Therapy (ECT)

“Electroconvulsive therapy: beneficial or barbarous?” Dr. Vivek Kusumakar, November/December 1999, 2:6, p. 16.

“Electroconvulsive therapy: Same old treatment, same old results,” Dr. Lee Coleman, January/February 2000, p. 16.

“An alternative to ECT? Magnetic therapy holds promise for treating depression,” Stephen Nicholls, July/August 2001, 4:4, p. 4.

MH:TR:6h—Feminist Therapy

“Feminist therapy leaves women empowered,” Diana Ballon, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 3.

MH:TR:6i—Group Therapy

MH:TR:6j—Hormone Replacement Therapy

“Male menopause: Hormone replacement therapy may relieve depressive symptoms in aging men,” Sue McCluskey, May/June 1999, 2:3, p. 13.

MH:TR:6k—Psychotherapy and Counselling

“Spirituality and psychotherapy: Wrestling with life’s bigger questions,” Cindy McGlynn, January/February 2000, 3:1, p. 9.

“Criticizing the ubiquitous ‘culture of therapy’,” Shawn Winsor [book review]
March/April 2001, 4:2, p. 15.

MH:TR:6l—Music Therapy

“A healing sound – music therapy heals people with mental health problems,” Lisa Schmidt, September/October 2000, 3:5, p. 8.